

Level 2 Certificate in Coaching: getting qualified and licensed

What are the requirements for being awarded a certificate?

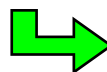

- ▶ You must have completed the attendance, coursework and assessments.
- ▶ Before Angling Trust can apply to 1st4sport for your qualification certificate, you must also have attended workshops for both appropriate First Aid and UK Coaching Safeguarding & Protecting Children training, and you'll need to supply evidence of both of these to the Coaching Centre Administrator.

You can provide that evidence (normally copies of the certificates) before, during or even after the scheduled dates of your selected Level 2 course. The confirmation of your course booking and also your pre-course Welcome Pack will have included information about identifying suitable First Aid and Safeguarding workshops, and Coaching Centre admin can supply further copies if you can't now locate those.

All the pieces will need to be in place before the Angling Trust can apply to 1st4sport for your qualification certificate.

1st4sport sends your certificate to Angling Trust, and we'll forward it to you together with any work that you handed in.

....and when you've qualified, we hope you'll also want to become a licensed coach. The Licensed Coach Scheme offers you specialised insurance for your coaching activities, and you're eligible to get the first year free of charge.

There'll be a licensing application pack in the mailing with your Level 2 Certificate. If you already hold a current Level 1 licence, converting that to Level 2 is quick and simple.

What about DBS checking? Do I need that as well to get my qualification?

Safeguarding training isn't the same thing as a DBS check. You don't need DBS checking in order to take or pass a coaching course, but if you want to become licensed, you'll probably need to arrange a check through Angling Trust.
